

Product Odour Testing and Training Services

Consumer confidence and satisfaction can be dramatically impacted by odour emitted from absorbent hygiene products, even before use. But many factors affect how each user perceives that odour. As a manufacturer you need the know-how to address their concerns and ensure a positive experience.

Our odour experts have created two training programmes to share the knowledge you need, Introduction to Odour and Odour Measurement. Our team is also able to provide Exclusive Odour Testing of your products and raw materials.

INTRODUCTION TO ODOUR

WHAT: Customised session led by a Bostik odour expert

WHERE: Your facility or via video conferencing

INCLUDES:

- Insights into the science behind this everyday experience
- Consideration of factors affecting individual perception
- Establishing a common language for discussion of odour
